“ He was the greatest man and husband a person could ask for and a loving father, grandfather, brother and friend. He cared so much about anyone he met and his heart was so big. He never complained and he always would bring light and life into any room he entered. His friends and family were everything to him. He will be so missed and their will not be one day that goes by that he will not be thought about. He was my world and his children's world and will be loved always. His memories will remain in our hearts forever.
